

James Widmer

Deputy Superintendent and Chief Operating Officer, Nassau BOCES

- James Widmer is the Deputy Superintendent and Chief Operating Officer for Nassau BOCES.
- Nassau BOCES is the largest educational services agency in New York State, serving Nassau County's 56 school districts and nearly 200,000 students. The Agency creates, develops and implements programs and services that might otherwise be too costly for individual school districts.
- Mr. Widmer is instrumental in the Agency's ongoing growth and development, working closely with department leaders to create new services that directly support student achievement. He also collaborates on regional initiatives. He formerly served as a member of the statewide BOCES Business Officials Steering Committee and the Long Island Education Coalition Foundation Aid Review Committee.
- Prior to joining Nassau BOCES in 2003, he had 16 years of experience working in private industry as an accountant.
- He holds an M.B.A. from Dowling College and earned his undergraduate degree at Hofstra University. He has School Business Administration and School District Administration certifications.
