What You'll Do At LIPA

The Vice President of Electric Field Operations is responsible for fulfilling LIPA's mission of enabling clean, reliable, and affordable electric service for our customers by leading and providing oversight over an internal and contractor workforce that conducts all maintenance and capital investment programs across Long Island including all overhead, underground, and metering activities for both electric transmission and distribution to ensure safe, reliable and efficient power for LIPA's customers.

Other Essential Job Functions include:

- ❖ Developing and leading LIPA's Electric Field Operations team by providing vision, directing areas of focus, and establishing key initiatives and performance measures that align with LIPA's strategic priorities.
- ❖ Providing guidance on best practices for maintenance and capital investment programs including all overhead, underground, and metering activities for both electric transmission and distribution.
- ❖ Overseeing the maintenance and capital investment programs across Long Island including all overhead, underground, and metering activities for both electric transmission and distribution to ensure safety and reliability of energy sources.
- ❖ Advising Service Provider and management to deliver quality project and substation operations' deliverables on time and within budgets, exceeding expectations, and value.
- ❖ Leading the implementation of the quality management plan (QMP) and ensuring all team members are working to continuously improve engineering processes.
- ❖ Recruiting, developing, and retaining a high-performing workforce, including management and professional staff, to ensure completion of assigned goals and objectives.

Salary Range: $ 255,000 – 315,000
